Dr. Nancy Love earned her PhD in Educational Research in Leadership studying Accountability and Change. She is a negotiator, mediator, facilitator and investigator for corporations, non-profits and government agencies. She is the author of two 40 hour training sessions for in-house mediators called the PULSE Program which she teaches all over North America. Nancy's experience as a practitioner, author and a teacher gives her added perspective often needed to see how parties might come to agreement and resolution. Nancy's study of the physiological and psychological theory of conflict resolution and structured conversations has influenced her approach to EUB cases. She has experience with landowners and oil companies and welcomes any challenges.
