My private mediation practice, Peace Builder Mediation Services, serves clients in and around Central Alberta. I focus on providing professional and effective mediation services to each and every participant; thereby offering each party the opportunity to reach a mutually satisfactory agreement in a collaborative manner. With a 20 year background in various areas of the legal system, I am able to draw on a wide range of experiences from neighborhood land disputes to oil and gas land agreement negotiations. As well as having lived in rural Alberta for over 35 years and being a partner in a family owned business directly involved in the oil and gas industry, I am a Member of the Metis Nation of Alberta. This combination of heritage and life experience has afforded me the unique opportunity and ability to provide effective conflict management services to a wide range of clients.
